Single Programming Document

Amendment No. 4

SECTION 2

MULTI-ANNUAL PROGRAMMING
2023-2025

MULTI-ANNUAL PROGRAMMING 2023-2025

FRA's multi-annual programming is based on the Strategic plan for 2023-2028, which was adopted by the Agency's Management Board in May 2023.

FRA's strategy for the 2023-28 period has functional and thematic dimensions that have been integrated into a common strategic framework. The strategic priorities build on the approach adopted by FRA for the 2018-22 programming period and past achievements, ensuring continuity.

The streamlined strategic priorities and objectives will ensure that FRA's strategic and operational response to future challenges maximizes coherence, synergies, cross-unit working, efficiency and effectiveness of the Agency's delivery mechanisms.

VISION

FRA envisions a future in which everyone in the EU is treated with dignity and is able to fully enjoy their fundamental rights and freedoms.

FRA will continue to fulfil its role as the EU's independent centre of excellence for fundamental rights, providing support to the EU institutions and Member States in developing and implementing legislation and policies in accordance with the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union

STRATEGIC PRIORITIES

- 1. Support the upholding of fundamental rights standards in the development of new EU laws and policies
- 2. Contribute to ensuring respect, protection and fulfilment of fundamental rights in the fields covered by existing EU laws and policies
- 3. Cross-cutting actions to support the realisation of the EU's fundamental rights goals and vision

STRATEGIC PRIORITY

STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES

1.1. Produce information on fundamental rights issues and trends by collecting and analysing robust, reliable and comparable data and evidence on the state of the respect, protection and fulfilment of fundamental rights across the Union.

In 2023–2028, among other core functions, FRA will continue to research fundamental rights in the EU. More precisely, it will continue to collect and analyse objective, reliable and comparable information and data on the situation with regard to respect, protection and fulfilment of fundamental rights across the Union and emerging trends. Among other things, this will involve populating fundamental rights indicators with relevant data. Particular emphasis will be put on fieldwork research through large-scale quantitative surveys and qualitative research, especially in areas where there is limited comparable research. The research will be mainly sociolegal, encompassing legal analysis, use of secondary source material and empirical data collection. This makes it possible to analyse fundamental rights issues and trends over time and inform policymakers. FRA will adopt an intersectional approach to the research in priority thematic areas and improve the efficiency of the research processes. The agency could also seek to lower the minimum age for people to take part in its surveys (while respecting all principles of child protection), and to communicate these findings among young people.

FRA will explore – including in cooperation with other EU agencies and key partners – new areas where it is necessary to collect data about fundamental rights across EU Member States, to inform policymaking. A number of new developments and challenges were identified, including pressures on democratic principles, climate change, and challenges to fundamental rights in the economic and societal spheres, especially to the rights of people in vulnerable situations. Since emerging risks and issues are more complex, there is much to be done to develop the capacity internally and jointly with other EU agencies and partners to collect and analyse comparable data and evidence from across the EU Member States. Linked to this, there is a need for improved disaggregated data, for example by age groups and specific vulnerabilities. FRA will explore potential synergies with other EU agencies and partners to collect robust and reliable evidence. Work also needs to still be undertaken to explore the use of big data for the identification of trends. FRA has recently begun to address this.

1.2. Provide decision-makers with independent advice and opinions to support them to advance policies that fully respect fundamental rights and are effective in protecting and fulfilling human rights.

FRA's analysis of data and evidence will also continue to support the European Commission's regular reporting to the European Parliament and the Council of the European Union on the development of EU law and policy. The data and evidence that FRA gathers could be used to support ex post and ex ante (or 'upstream') assessments of how certain courses of action will potentially affect the upholding of fundamental rights standards. Likewise, there is a role for the agency to play in providing technical assistance and capacity building as well as in advising on the application of the fundamental rights conditionality when disbursing EU funds.

FRA will enhance its capacity to respond to requests from EU institutions for independent and evidence-based expertise and opinions on fundamental rights aspects of new EU legislative proposals. This would support the upholding of high fundamental rights standards in EU policies and legal acts. The Agency has over time consolidated its role as independent actor in informing EU law, drawing on the evidence gathered through its research work and expertise. Looking ahead, FRA will issue opinions and conclusions in line with its competences as laid down in Article 3 of its founding regulation.

FRA must also be able to react to short-term developments and crises, and provide advice, information and opinions on a short-term ad hoc basis.

FRA already has considerable experience conducting fieldwork research and providing evidence-based advice in crisis situations. Recent examples, include FRA's work in highlighting the fundamental rights aspects of the COVID-19 pandemic and the consequences of the Russian war of aggression against Ukraine. This crisis response mode has become more and more important and is likely to remain so in the future.

1.3. Carry out research and foresight studies on fundamental rights issues and future challenges to help EU institutions and Member States anticipate threats to the enjoyment of fundamental rights and help them to promote fundamental rights resilience.

In 2023–2028, FRA will further develop its strategic foresight capacity in selected areas where it is undertaking research and data collection, to support policymakers' efforts to better anticipate future developments rather than simply reacting to them. By doing so, it will help EU institutions and Member States anticipate threats to (and identify opportunities for) the enjoyment of fundamental rights and help them to promote fundamental rights resilience.

In addition to large-scale surveys, FRA has an impressive track record of qualitative research on a wide range of topical fundamental rights issues, leading to over 30 publications in 2022 alone. The outputs range from a report on the fundamental rights implications of the Russian war of aggression against Ukraine to a guide to preventing unlawful profiling. This research output provides important information to EU and national policymakers, and others working in the fundamental rights field, and is a key function that will be continued in the future.

FRA is part of existing foresight structures within the EU and has contributed to the strategic foresight processes of the European Commission in 2023. However, there is a need to develop this capacity further in the coming years. If possible, that should involve other EU agencies and partners, particularly in relation to the new challenges that are apparent in the fundamental rights field. FRA can embed elements of foresight into selected areas of its work – encompassing the seven megatrends referred to in this document - where it has developed, and is developing, a body of knowledge and expertise through its research.

2 STRATEGIC PRIORITY

CONTRIBUTE TO ENSURING RESPECT, PROTECTION AND FULFILMENT OF FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS IN THE FIELDS COVERED BY EXISTING EU LAWS AND POLICIES

In addition to supporting the upholding of high fundamental rights standards in EU policies and legal acts, FRA will continue to have an important role in supporting the implementation of measures. In this respect, FRA is tasked in its Founding Regulation to “formulate and publish conclusions and opinions on specific thematic topics, for the Union institutions and the Member States when implementing Union law, either on its own initiative or at the request of the European Parliament, the Council or the Commission”. These activities are not confined to “implementation” in the narrow sense of the word - the FRA can also address relevant issues that arise in fields covered by EU law and policies that extend beyond mere implementation.

STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES

2.1. Support the implementation of EU laws and policies with advice, opinions, research and real-time assistance to EU institutions, Member States and other stakeholders.

FRA will continue to offer assistance and expertise on fundamental rights issues to EU institutions and Member States acting in fields covered by EU law. Providing independent, targeted options and assistance on fundamental rights – at the request of EU institutions or Member States – and analysing the practical implementation of laws in Member States are increasingly important tasks for FRA. By pursuing this action, it will help EU institutions and Member States ensure full compliance with fundamental rights, in line with Article 2 TEU.

FRA already has considerable experience in conducting fieldwork research and providing legal analyses of fundamental rights. It will also continue to map comprehensively the practical implementation of EU law and provide legal analyses of key fundamental rights areas of competence, and on other issues at the request of EU institutions. The agency’s sociolegal approach, assessing the implementation of law from the perspective of the experiences of rights holders and duty bearers, has proved instrumental in identifying key fundamental rights concerns. In 2023–2028, FRA will continue to systematically promote this approach in its work for EU institutions.

Providing targeted fundamental rights expertise to EU Member States is likely to become a more regular feature of FRA’s work. This could range from direct assistance to Member States through to advisory support on fundamental rights issues in the context of sharing experience across the EU, alongside targeted support related to capacity building on monitoring and evaluation practices, and the development of practical tools. Given the agency’s financial and human resources, this engagement will need to be carefully targeted to those areas where FRA’s input can have most impact

2.2. Support the integration of the fundamental rights perspective in the application of relevant laws and policies at the EU and national levels

FRA will make renewed efforts to help Member States to integrate the fundamental rights perspective in national measures in the fields covered by EU laws and policies. The need to mainstream fundamental rights principles is nowhere more apparent than in relation to some of the new challenges, such as climate change, digital transformation and the use of new technologies, as well as in socioeconomic affairs. In these areas, where deemed relevant, a priority for FRA will be to contribute to ensuring that measures taken to address new challenges include appropriate fundamental rights standards and considerations. It will also continue to support the implementation of fundamental rights requirements by providing timely and accurate information on the enjoyment of fundamental rights and the impacts of EU law and policies on fundamental rights.

In this connection it should be noted that FRA has been tasked in recent years with additional responsibilities under specific EU instruments, which sets out a duty for the Agency to provide input. FRA obviously welcomes this development, which enhances its potential to fulfil its mission. At the same time, it must be observed that the growing responsibilities have not been matched with an increase in the agency's resources. As long as this is the case, FRA faces an even greater need to set priorities. It must also ensure that it retains enough flexibility to prevent a situation in which it is unable to respond to any new task.

2.3. Assist the EU Institutions and Member States with the implementation of practical measures to address fundamental right risks and challenges that may arise in fields covered by EU laws and policies and to support rights-based approaches in EU Law and policy.

FRA's presence on the ground, including field missions to Member States, facilitates the provision of real-time advice to EU and national stakeholders concerning fundamental rights challenges. Providing regular and timely information that the agency collects can directly and immediately affect the promotion and protection of fundamental rights on the ground.

FRA will promote awareness of and access to available resources (such as studies, handbooks and training materials, several of which are available in a number of EU languages) and develop new tools and training material to assist EU institutions and Member States find practical solutions to challenges.

The agency will also enhance its strategic work with civil society organisations, including through the Fundamental Rights Platform, to discuss and help address the civic space challenges on the ground.

STRATEGIC PRIORITY

CROSS-CUTTING ACTIONS TO SUPPORT THE REALISATION OF THE EU'S FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS GOALS AND VISION

Priority 3 is essentially cross-cutting insofar as it provides for the key elements of the delivery mechanisms that are required for the implementation of Priorities 1 and 2. Raising awareness of fundamental rights, enhancing and further developing robust research methods and methodology, effective communication by FRA with its key stakeholders and target groups, partnership working, and strengthening the shared vision for fundamental rights as a basis for collaboration with partners are all key Priority 3 actions for 2023-28.

STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES

3.1. Promote fundamental rights at the EU and Member State levels of fundamental rights by raising awareness amongst rights holders and duty bearers.

Fundamental rights are basic rights and freedoms that belong to everyone in the EU. FRA will work alongside EU institutions and Member States in promoting this message. A key focus in the next programming period will be on young people, in addition to people in vulnerable situations, Roma, minorities and other target groups of right holders already mentioned. FRA's communication strategy will be key to this action. It will further tailor its communication strategy to target audiences and raise awareness of fundamental rights issues among its stakeholders. These include policymakers, those responsible for implementing fundamental rights (national and local authorities, agencies, law enforcement organisations, etc.), multipliers (such as journalists, educators, businesspeople, and figures in sports and entertainment) and civil society. The agency will continue to plan awareness-raising and communication activities and initiatives, in close cooperation with other fundamental rights players where applicable, to improve support and understanding of fundamental rights among its stakeholders, especially young people.

3.2. Develop research methods and tools on fundamental rights, including benchmarking, assessment, due diligence tools and human rights indicators.

FRA will utilise state-of-the-art robust research methods and tools to advance research on fundamental rights issues.

FRA has done much pioneering work in research methodologies and the analysis of fundamental rights data. FRA's founding regulation tasks it to 'develop methods and standards to improve the comparability,

FRA DRAFT PROGRAMMING DOCUMENT 2024-2026
objectivity and reliability of data at European level’ (Article 4 (1) (b)).

In 2023–2028, the agency will also further develop its work on developing and applying fundamental rights benchmarks and indicators, which are useful tools for

3.3. Collaborate with partners, fundamental rights actors and multipliers in strengthening regional, national and local fundamental rights protection systems.

In 2023–2028, FRA will step up collaboration and joint working with its EU and other partners, as this is the key to efficient and effective implementation of its strategy. It will continue to enhance its agility, flexibility and creativity in its communications and partnership working.

FRA will intensify its programmes of cooperation with other actors that play a critical role in promoting and protecting human and fundamental rights. The cooperation will leverage different actors’ comparative advantages and reflect their distinct and complementary roles. At the international level this includes partnerships with various offices, funds and programmes of the United Nations system. At the regional level, cooperation with the CoE remains imperative, as is reflected in the founding regulation and shaped in the agreement between the European Community and the CoE on cooperation between FRA and the CoE (15.7.2008/L186/7). FRA will also continue to work closely with the Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe (OSCE).

The relatively recent and very productive cooperation between FRA and the EEA and Norway Grants is greatly valued and will be further developed. FRA cooperates closely with the EEA and Norway Grants, which under their current financial mechanism have financed cooperation activities in a number of EU Member States that are grants’ beneficiaries. Together with the CoE and the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, FRA acts as an international partner of the grants, having supported the work of EU Member States’ administrations and

3.4. Promote dialogue with and among key actors to respond to fundamental rights challenges and to shape agendas with a view to enhancing collaboration and building a common vision for the future.

identifying operational priorities and assessing performance. Furthermore, a key consideration during 2023–2028 will be to link FRA’s work on indicators to those used in the context of EU processes – such as the Europe 2020 strategy – and the Sustainable Development Goals.

institutions, human rights institutions, equality bodies, etc.

No less important are the agency’s relationships with national human rights institutions, equality bodies, ombudsperson and other human rights actors. Civil society, especially as represented by organisations participating in the Fundamental Rights Platform, is an essential partner of FRA. Furthermore, FRA will continue to extend its cooperation with other bodies that play important roles in society, including faith communities, cultural practitioners, sports bodies and business organisations.

The consultations for this strategy underlined the growing importance of also supporting the efforts of Member States to promote fundamental rights. FRA works closely with national liaison officers appointed by each Member State as FRA’s contact points. The agency will strengthen the collaboration with national liaison officers and encourage them to actively communicate relevant fundamental rights evidence to the relevant national ministries, departments and government bodies. In addition, it could explore further cooperation with national parliaments.

Another of FRA’s priorities in 2023–2028 will be to identify and make better use of multipliers to disseminate the results of its projects and research on fundamental rights, developments and risks. Through this priority, the agency will strive to make the evidence it produces available and accessible to all interested parties and the public.

It is clearly important that FRA's work and that of its partners be underpinned by a shared vision of fundamental rights, the priorities in this regard and the actions required to achieve key objectives.

In 2023–2028, and linked to Objective 3.2, FRA will continue to convene partners and other actors working on fundamental rights to discuss pressing fundamental rights issues, and actions to address common challenges. The agency has demonstrated its strong convening power in recent years, especially through the Fundamental Rights Forum, conferences of senior experts and other activities. The 2021 edition of the forum attracted more than 2 000 participants from all over the world.

FRA will also maintain and further develop its dialogues with young people. Meanwhile, it will help national actors convene regular dialogues on the topic of the rule of law. That will follow up the pilot dialogues it is currently undertaking at the request of the European Commission.

ANNUAL WORK PROGRAMME 2023

A.1.1 EU Survey on immigrants and descendants of immigrants

Area of activity: EQUALITY, ROMA and SOCIAL RIGHTS

Theme: Anti-racism and non-discrimination

Policy relevance

The EU Action Plan on Integration and Inclusion 2021-2027 refers to the integration and inclusion of immigrants as key for the long-term well-being of European societies and the stability of their economies. This survey provides comparable data on the discrimination experiences of immigrants and descendants of immigrants in selected EU Member States. The data will be available to the Commission for its mid-term assessment of the effective implementation of the EU Action Plan on integration and inclusion 2021-2027.

In response to needs of the mid-term evaluation of the EU anti-racism action plan 2020-2025 and requests from EU institutions and relevant stakeholders for data disaggregating by ethnic or racial origin, FRA will analyse the survey results for different groups, including people of African descent and Muslims. In order to enhance policy relevance at national level, FRA will also publish survey country fiches. The survey outputs will take into account the experiences of women, different age groups, and people with disabilities.

In 2023, FRA will begin preparations for the next wave of the survey.

Objectives

- To identify trends and assess progress over time with data disaggregation by sex, age and disability.
- To provide data on discrimination experiences, hate motivated harassment and violence, and rights awareness as well as on social inclusion and civic participation and data relevant for selected SDG indicators.
- To refine research methodologies for sampling and surveying hard-to-reach or elusive populations
- To deliver project outputs of use to key stakeholders in different formats

Activities	Outputs
- Analysis of 2022 survey data; drafting and publication of two reports on the 2022 survey findings	- 'Being Black in the EU' report, and translation into selected EU languages
- Dissemination of 2022 survey results in different fora on the level of EU and Member States	- Main results report
- Preparation of the survey's technical report for publication; preparation for data visualisation and archiving	- Survey questionnaire
- Preparation and launch of procurement for the next round of the survey in 2024 with indicative budget for 2023, under 3rd priority – additional budget must be allocated in 2024.	- Input of selected survey data to the Agency's online data explorer

A.1.5 Fundamental rights protection of persons with disabilities living in institutions

Area of activity: EQUALITY, ROMA and SOCIAL RIGHTS

Theme: Anti-racism and non-discrimination

Policy relevance

Persons with disabilities are at higher risk of suffering violence and abuse in their home environment and in institutions, in particular women, older persons and children with disabilities. The UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD), to which the EU and its Member States are parties, requires State Parties to take legislative, administrative, judicial or other measures to effectively prevent persons with disabilities from being subjected to torture, violence and abuse; to monitor facilities by independent authorities; and to ensure effective access to justice for victims. Relevant EU legal provisions include the Victims' Rights Directive and the EU Strategy on Victims' Rights which requires all relevant actions to be in line with the CRPD. People in institutional settings are particularly vulnerable to violence in light of the inherent characteristics of these settings, such as social isolation, power asymmetries, depersonalisation and lack of ability to seek outside help. They face considerable barriers when they try to report violations of their rights and access justice. In the EU, despite significant efforts, ten years after the CRPD entered into force, institutional care continues to persist for people with disabilities, including children and older people. At the same time we still lack sufficient research evidence on the experiences of persons with disabilities in institutions across the EU and as a result, fundamental rights issues affecting those living in institutions remain largely undocumented. In March 2021, the Commission published the new and strengthened Strategy for the Rights of Persons with Disabilities 2021-2030, which addresses the heightened risk to human rights violations in institutions, highlighting the need for improving access to justice and protection, including by "monitoring of institutions and investigation in case violence, crimes or abuse occurs". The Strategy calls on FRA to examine the situation of persons with disabilities living in institutions in regard to violence, abuse and torture. This project responds to this request contributing to the Agency's activities as member of the EU's Monitoring Framework of CRPD Art. 33 (2). It will build on previous FRA work on victims' rights and on persons with disabilities collecting information on safeguards of fundamental rights protection and accountability standards regulating the provision of institutional care. Differences in standards for regulation and accreditation for publicly and privately managed institutions reflecting the increasing privatisation of care in the EU will also be explored. The project will examine the availability and function of formal complaints procedures, as well as possibilities to access informal complains systems (such as anonymous suggestion boxes or residents' councils, etc.) and external (third-party) complaints services. In addition, the project will examine additional measures, such as proactive monitoring of closed institutions, such as unannounced visits by independent authorities, which are indispensable for enabling persons with disabilities to safely report any victimisation. The project will map the scope and nature of monitoring carried out by both health and social care services regulators and independent monitoring by national human rights bodies, such as NHRIs, Art. 33 (2) CRPD frameworks and Ombuds institutions. In addition to desk research through the Agency's research network FRANET, the project will also collect primary information through fieldwork research in selected Member States with the objective to collect more in depth information from key stakeholders, and people with disabilities themselves.

Objectives

- Identify fundamental rights aspects in legal provisions regulating institutional settings for persons with disability
- Provide evidence of barriers to accessing complaint procedures and justice faced by persons with disabilities in institutions
- Map existing complaints mechanisms and the mandate and scope of regulatory and independent monitoring mechanisms
- Contribute to the proper implementation of specific aspects of the EU Victims' Rights Directive

Activities

- Expert consultation, project design and planning
- Cooperation with NHRBs monitoring closed settings
- Data collection – desk research in 30 countries (27 EUMSs, Albania, Serbia and North Macedonia) through FRANET
- Fieldwork research in selected countries
- Drafting of comparative report

A.2.5 Ensuring the right to environmental protection

Area of activity: EQUALITY, ROMA and SOCIAL RIGHTS

Theme: Social Rights

Policy relevance

Article 37 of the EU Charter for Fundamental Rights outlines the principle that a high level of environmental protection and the improvement of the quality of the environment must be integrated into the policies of the Union and ensured in accordance with the principle of sustainable development. In 2022 the UN General Assembly (UNGA) passed a resolution recognizing the human right to a clean, healthy, and sustainable environment.

In 2019, the EU proclaimed its new growth strategy, the 'green deal', aiming to "transform the EU into a fair and prosperous society, with a modern, resource-efficient and competitive economy." The Commission has emphasised the need for this green transition to be fair and just and set up a new social climate fund to support vulnerable people and mitigate the costs for those most exposed to fossil fuel price increases. Regulation (EU) 2021/1119, the so-called European Climate law establishes the framework for achieving climate neutrality. It stresses the need to consider the social, economic and environmental impacts. Article 5.3 requires, Union Institutions and Member States to "focus, in particular, on the most vulnerable and impacted populations and sectors, and identify shortcomings in this regard in consultation with civil society." This is particularly important in light of the fact that in 2020 about 35 million EU citizens were unable to keep their homes adequately warm and this situation is expected to deteriorate in view of the rising energy prices due to the Russian war of aggression against Ukraine. The impact of events caused by climate change, such as extreme heat, floods, droughts, water scarcity, sea level rise, thawing glaciers, forest fires, windthrows and agricultural losses may be disproportional to those most vulnerable in our societies. Existing inequalities will be exacerbated by environmental risks. FRA's recent data (2021) show that 23% of Roma in the EU live disproportionately more often in areas facing environmental problems such as pollution, grime, smoke, dust, unpleasant smells or polluted water compared to the general population (14%). Every fifth Roma (21%) lives in a household without tap water in the dwelling. Roma have on average a 10 years shorter life expectancy than the general population. This project seeks to identify the human and fundamental rights dimensions of the EU's green transition and relevant implementing legislation (see for example, judgement Commission v. Hellenic Republic - C-387/97), the impact of climate change and access to a safe and healthy environment in light of the overarching principle of the United Nations Sustainable Development Agenda to leave no one behind. The project will map fundamental and social rights implications in relevant EU legal provisions to address the impact of climate change and ensure access to a safe and healthy environment and sustainable energy, as required under article 37 of the Charter. Subsequently, the project will also analyse relevant national provisions in selected Member States, in particular provisions implementing relevant EU Directives in order to identify gaps and challenges to a just transition towards a climate-neutral economy. The research will focus, in particular, on measures affecting those in precarious living conditions and most exposed to negative impacts of environmental changes. In this research, FRA will strive to cooperate closely with relevant stakeholders, including the European Environment Agency and the relevant Commission Directorates, as well as international organisations.

Objectives

- Identify fundamental rights aspects in national legal provisions in the implementation of the EU's green deal and environmental policies.
- Identify data and vulnerable groups with respect to the social impact of the green transition and environmental risks and identify good practice in addressing the related challenges
- Provide guidance on fundamental and social rights compliance of policies and legal provisions in regard to the green transition and the impact of climate change and the energy crisis.
- Provide guidance on data collection and monitoring of a socially just green transition.

Activities

- Stakeholder consultation
- Desk research and mapping of legal and policy provisions to implement the EU's green deal
- Mapping of existing data on the social impact of environmental policies and legislation and identification of vulnerable groups

Outputs

- Mapping of EU and, provided additional funds become available, selected national legal frameworks promoting and implementing the EU's green deal

A.3.1 Roma Survey

Area of activity: EQUALITY, ROMA and SOCIAL RIGHTS

Theme: Roma Inclusion

Policy relevance

The Agency's past survey findings have identified Roma as among the most vulnerable populations in the EU to numerous fundamental rights violations. FRA research has highlighted, in particular, that large numbers of Roma frequently have no access to formal employment, live in precarious circumstances, and have limited or no access to health care (amongst other services). Moreover, Roma often face xenophobic, discriminatory and racist attitudes and behaviours, and are often victims of crime (including hate crime) and/or unlawful ethnic profiling. The FRA 2020 bulletins on the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic showed how the pandemic has exacerbated existing challenges and inequalities among marginalised Roma. The 2018 Communication on the evaluation of the EU Framework relating to the Roma called for a portfolio of Roma inclusion objectives, targets and indicators - requesting FRA's support and technical assistance to develop data collection, reporting, and analysis to track progress, thus contributing to the systematisation of knowledge and policy in this area. The 2021 Council Recommendation on Roma equality, inclusion and participation sets clear targets and has a strong focus on combatting antigypsyism; specifically, it calls on Member States to make use of the portfolio of indicators put together jointly by FRA, the Commission and the Member States, with FRA's data being used to populate these indicators. The Communication of the European Commission from October 2020 requests the Agency to provide data and background information on progress towards the inclusion of the Roma population in EU Member States, which should be collected on a regular basis to provide the necessary baseline, mid-term and end-term data to measure change – FRA's Roma Surveys supply such data. Roma survey data, along with national reports, have contributed to the Commission's periodic monitoring reports.

The Roma Survey provides comparable data on the actual impact on the ground of EU and national anti-discrimination, anti-racism and equality legislation policies (including policies on reduction of poverty and social inclusion). For some countries, the survey produces data allowing for analysis of trends over time. The survey findings guide policy makers in developing more targeted legal and policy responses, including in the field of social rights, integration and social inclusion, as well as civic participation and trust in public authorities. At the Member State level, the survey results help guide the activities of local authorities, National Roma Contact Points, NHRIs/Equality Bodies and civil society.

Objectives

- To deliver data on discrimination experiences, hate motivated harassment and violence, and rights awareness, as well as on social inclusion and civic participation; including data that is relevant for selected SDG indicators - ensuring disaggregation by sex and age, and disability (where possible).
- To identify trends and assess progress over time between FRA Roma surveys.
- To further refine research methodologies for sampling and surveying hard-to-reach or elusive populations – to be shared with Member States.
- To deliver project outputs of use to key stakeholders.
- To raise awareness of fundamental rights implications and disseminate project results.
- To populate Roma equality and inclusion indicators in close cooperation with the Commission.
- To prepare for the next wave of the Roma survey.

Activities

- Preparation of different survey outputs – as listed
- Provision of evidence-based advice to EU institutions and Member States on the situation of Roma in the EU
- Building capacities among CSOs in selected Member States about how to work with the results of the Roma survey 2020
- Preparation and launch of procurement for the Roma Survey 2024

Outputs

- Publication of results at country level – as short outputs in national language, 10 countries (staggered between 2022-2023)
- Publication of selected survey data through the Agency's online data explorer

B.3.1 Tasks assigned to FRA by EU law in the field of asylum, borders, and immigration

Area of activity: JUSTICE, DIGITAL and MIGRATION

Theme: Migration and Asylum

Policy relevance

Several EU law instruments in the field of asylum, borders and immigration assign specific tasks to FRA. This project will enable FRA to exercise this role by providing its fundamental rights expertise. These specific tasks fall under five broad areas. A sixth area where FRA's input is explicitly requested is covered in a separate project titled 'Collecting data for EU preparedness and crisis management'.

- cooperation with EU agencies as required by their respective founding regulations (FRONTEX, EUAA, eu-LISA, EUROPOL) or by bilateral Memoranda of Understanding (CEPOL, EUROJUST, EUROPOL)
- Schengen Evaluations, as required by Council Regulation (EU) 2022/922
- National programmes under the Asylum, Migration and Integration and the Integrated Border Management Fund, as per Regulations (EU) 2021/1147 and (EU) 2021/1148
- European large-scale IT systems, including in the context of the ETIAS and VIS Fundamental Rights Guidance Boards
- Independent monitoring mechanisms at borders as proposed by the Screening Regulation and provision of fundamental rights expertise in the context of migration management support teams and, for Greece, in the Memorandum of Understanding on Lesbos (Commission decision of 2 December 2020).

Overall, this project will support EU institutions and agencies, as well as Member States to implement EU law taking due consideration with respect to fundamental rights.

The Agency will provide input at a level that is commensurate with its available resources.

Objectives

- Enable FRA to fulfil its legal commitments flowing from EU law directly or from bilateral and multilateral cooperation arrangements;
- Provide fundamental rights expertise to EU institutions, EU agencies and EU Member States in the field of asylum, borders, and immigration.

B.3.7 Additional activities under the sector 'Migration and Asylum'

Area of activity: JUSTICE, DIGITAL and MIGRATION

Policy relevance

This project accommodates additional activities related to data collection, analysis, and provision of fundamental rights expertise which are not covered by specific Agency projects. Since its establishment, the Agency has variously worked in the areas of asylum and migration, which is underpinned by in-depth research on key fundamental rights issues, in areas such as asylum, border management, EU IT systems, migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings, severe exploitation of migrant workers, return and readmission, children in migration, and the rights of migrants and refugees. In 2022, FRA added a specific focus on refugees from Ukraine. Activities under this project allow for the continued visibility of FRA outputs and expertise in key areas of work where it has built up a significant body of knowledge, data and related expertise. The Agency's recognised expertise results in numerous and diverse requests for input. This includes, for example, activities to roll out the training manual for guardians, to implement the 2018 EU Agencies Joint Statement of commitment on working together to address trafficking in human beings, and to update data on temporary protection for Ukrainian refugees. This project also accommodates requests to attend and provide tailor-made input to Council Working Parties, the European Parliament LIBE Committee hearings, expert meetings by the European Commission or EU agencies - such as ELA or ECDC with whom FRA does not have yet a formal cooperation arrangement. This project will also allow the agency to respond to carefully selected events and initiatives by other actors, for example in the framework of the United Nations, the Council of Europe or National Human Rights Institutions. This can also involve engagement at the Member State level, including with civil society and other actors, in direct response to requests during the year. The project also covers the need to update data (for example on search and rescue at sea and on forced return monitoring) or produce tools and other materials in areas where it has established its added value. The Agency must be responsive to demands from stakeholders throughout the year, which can be encompassed under this area. This project will also enable the Agency to reprint or translate past reports and other FRA products, when needed. Finally, this project provides for the flexibility carry out necessary research to issue additional editions of the FRA bulletin on refugees from Ukraine, if resources become available.

Objectives

To respond to current policy needs in a given year:

- To provide evidence-based advice to EU institutions, as well as Member States – on request;
- Issue ad hoc outputs based on existing material and in-house expertise;
- Update selected publications;
- Translate in selected EU language existing FRA outputs;
- Make FRA findings available to policy makers in a proactive manner;
- Cooperate with EU and other actors;
- Communicate findings and FRA expertise to EU institutions and other relevant actors.

Activities

- Communicate research findings and provide expertise to key policy makers, principally at EU level, alongside other relevant stakeholders;
- Develop targeted analysis and briefs, tools, training materials and practical guidance, for example training for labour inspectors
- Attend and make tailor-made input to meetings and events by EU institutions, bodies and agencies; the Council of Europe and other international organisations; and high-level civil society events.
- Collect data through desk research and field work;
- Analyse data and draft/update reports and other publications and/or update parts thereof;
- Translate/re-print existing publications;
- Draft legal opinions if requested by EU institutions;
- Review draft documents shared by stakeholders to FRA for comments;
- Participate in the THB Contact Points JHA Agencies;

Outputs

- Tailor-made input to at least ten documents or processes, as requested by EU institutions, bodies or agencies, and other relevant actors;
- Updates on forced return monitoring and search and rescue produced, as necessary;
- Up to two short Agency outputs (one on training of labour inspectors) resulting from any additional research and/or analysis – as requested;
- Re-issuing or updating of various FRA materials, including translations – as required.
- (If requested by EU institutions) up to two legal opinions.
- One bulletin, if additional funding becomes available.

C.1.2 Supporting national human rights structures

Area of activity: INSTITUTIONAL COOPERATION and NETWORKS Theme: Human Rights Structures and Mechanisms

Policy relevance

The FRA regulation requires the Agency to “cooperate with [...] governmental organisations and public bodies competent in the field of fundamental rights in the Member States, including national human rights institutions”. The external evaluations of FRA have stressed the importance of enhanced engagement at national level, with FRA having stepped up such activities. The Council of the EU, in its 2021 Conclusions on strengthening the application of the Charter of Fundamental Rights in the EU, recognised “that independent NHRIs and equality bodies play a crucial role in the protection and promotion of fundamental rights and in awareness-raising, and contribute to ensuring compliance of national policies with the Charter”. It encouraged “Member States that have not yet established independent NHRIs in accordance with the Principles relating to the Status of National Institutions (Paris Principles) to do so”.

Past FRA research (‘Strong and effective national human rights institutions – challenges, promising practices and opportunities’, FRA 2020) underscores the important role of NHRIs for the protection and promotion of human rights, including when transposing EU law. To achieve synergies with national fundamental rights structures and make its findings available nationally, the Agency cooperates closely with public bodies with a human rights and equality remit bodies in the Member States, as well as their umbrella organisations, the European Network of National Human Rights Institutions (ENNHRI), the European Network of Equality Bodies (Equinet), and the International Ombudsman Institute (IOI).

Under this project, the Agency will continue its advisory work in the context of standards regarding the mandate and independence of bodies with a human rights and equality remit. In doing so, it will support the implementation of existing standards and promising practices with regards to those bodies as developed by the Council of Europe, United Nations, OSCE’s ODIHR and the European Commission in the case of equality bodies. FRA may also carry out preparatory actions, as appropriate, to the implementation of legally binding standards for equality bodies, as proposed by the European Commission in 2022 in a draft directive. In that context the agency may provide advice to the establishment of indicators with regard to resources, independent functioning, activities, or effectiveness of equality bodies thereby contributing to the practical application of this directive. Moreover, this project will map structures protecting fundamental rights in EU Member States (and countries participating as observers with FRA) building the national human rights systems. To facilitate mutual learning and exchange of experiences, the focus will lie on interactions, cooperation and synergies given that over the recent years different structures and mechanisms were established or tasked to protect and promote fundamental rights. Whereas also national structures and mechanisms will be covered that were established without any EU level influence, special attention will be given to those that were established based on EU law and policies or that carry out an important role under such EU documents

Objectives

- Contribute to strengthening statutory bodies with a human rights and equality remit so that they can fully exercise their powers and mandates as defined in EU, European and international standards.
- Promote National Human Rights Institutions (NHRIs), in line with relevant UN Resolutions, Goal 16 of the global 2030 Agenda, Council of Europe Recommendation on Establishing and Strengthening National Human Rights Institutions, and the European Commission’s Charter Strategy.
- Contribute to the development of indicators allowing to monitor the independence, mandates, powers, resources, activities and effectiveness of equality bodies.

Activities

- Regular consultation, exchange and cooperation with NHRIs, equality bodies, and ombuds institutions, as well as with their networks
- Collecting and analysing information on the national human rights architecture, including by updating information on NHRIs, equality bodies and Ombuds institutions
- Facilitating exchanges of practices between human rights structures, including NHRIs, equality bodies and OIs, for the purpose of peer-to-peer learning on human rights challenges and opportunities
- Cooperation and exchanges on the situation of bodies with a human rights / equality remit with intergovernmental organisations, EU institutions, and bodies
- Mapping (through FRANET) of existing fundamental rights relevant institutional structures and mechanisms at national level
- Desk research on international and EU law and policies aiming at the establishment and/or the strengthening of such structures and mechanisms

Outputs

- Presentations of FRA findings at national events of equality bodies, NHRIs, ombuds institutions and other national bodies
- Meetings (online or in-person) with ENNHRI, Equinet, IOI and expert contributions to their seminars
- Annual update on the status of NHRIs, building on the 2020 FRA report on NHRIs and SCA Review process (to be published online)

D.2.1 Annual Reports

Area of activity: COMMUNICATION and EVENTS

Theme: Web, Publishing and Promotion

Policy relevance

The set of activities falling under the umbrella of the Annual Reports are the coordination and development of the Agency's annual Fundamental Rights Report, and the production of the Agency's Consolidated Annual Activity Report.

The Consolidated Annual Activity report provides an overview of the activities and achievements of the Agency. It contains a comprehensive and thorough account of the Agency's activities in implementing its mandate and work programme of work. It follows the European Commission guidelines.

The Fundamental Rights Report is the Agency's annual report about the protection and fulfilment of fundamental rights in the EU and its Member States. The report reviews major developments in the field, identifying both achievements and remaining areas of concern. It is accompanied by an activity report. It is accompanied by FRA's opinions on these developments, including a synopsis of the evidence supporting these opinions.

The Fundamental Rights Report includes a 'Focus' chapter. This dedicated chapter examines issues of relevance to current policy priorities in the EU. The report identifies trends and relevant promising practices. It also includes a specific chapter on the progress of implementing the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD). Where relevant, it presents data disaggregated by sex and highlights the gender dimension.

The report's overall findings are used by the European Parliament in its report about fundamental rights in the EU. Relevant Council conclusions also refer to FRA's Fundamental Rights Report.

In 2023, a reform of the Fundamental Rights Report will be initiated, based on discussions relating to the amended Founding Regulation of the Agency (Council Regulation (EU) 2022/555).

Objectives

- Identify and analyse major trends in the field of fundamental rights;
- Assist the EU and its Member States in decision making by providing evidence-based opinions;
- Identify and disseminate examples of good practice;
- Improving awareness raising in the area of fundamental rights.

Activities	Outputs

D.2.2 Production and dissemination of FRA output

Area of activity: COMMUNICATION and EVENTS

Policy relevance

The production and dissemination of FRA output entails developing, producing, and disseminating FRA's multilingual print and online outputs. It includes planning, coordination, implementation and quality control of FRA research outputs, e-learning courses and information material. It also comprises the maintenance of FRA's corporate website and other online tools, such as databases containing research findings and the e-learning platform. FRA disseminates the results of its work and raises public awareness through a range of communication activities. These aim to ensure that its work reaches the appropriate audiences at the right time in an accessible format through the appropriate channels, including FRA's corporate website and social media. Communication priorities set for 2023 will guide the Agency's communication and dissemination, ensuring a coherent approach across the wide range of activities. In its communication and dissemination activities, the Agency will pay particular attention to gender, children and youth, and the needs of persons with disabilities. Production and dissemination activities are carried out both online and offline (print). In this context, a great number of research-related deliverables are produced – as listed under the different project fiches outlined in the previous sections. The Agency uses strategic communication services to ensure timely, relevant and high impact driven dissemination of its findings. In addition, the Agency will continue to produce information products, including awareness-raising material, and disseminate it to the Agency's stakeholders.

The online activities are primarily conducted through the Agency's web and social media presence. They are continuously reviewed to reflect technological developments and their content is regularly updated.

Objectives

- Communicating FRA's work to the public and specific target audiences through online, print, audio and audio-visual means
- Informing policymakers, experts and practitioners at EU and national level through print publications, media and online communication channels about a range of fundamental rights issues based on the Agency's evidence and expertise
- Developing state-of-the-art online communication tools to promote fundamental rights issues
- Improving and diversifying print production to respond to the needs of specific audiences, such as persons with disabilities

Activities

- Develop, maintain and update FRA's website in order to make it more attractive, user friendly, and fully accessible
- Continue to add new survey data sets to the data visualisation tool and content to the e-learning platform
- Produce and disseminate major reports and other types of publications related to the Agency's activities
- Produce communication material additional to major reports, such as In Briefs, infographics and brochures
- Disseminate relevant output to specific audiences at events and through mailing lists, provided also by the Publications Office of the European Union
- Ensure efficient stock management of publications
- Produce translations of FRA deliverables in as many EU languages as financial resources allow
- Further develop FRA's corporate identity and branding

Outputs

- FRA website
- Data explorer (visualisation) for selected surveys
- Translations of outputs into EU languages
- Corporate visual identity and branding
- Communication products
- Various types of print material
- Dissemination and stock management
- E-learning platform Moodle

ANNEX XV: Performance Framework

The programming for FRA is done in two levels. The first level is the strategic level which is outlined in Section 2 of the Single Programming Document (multi-annual programme). It identifies the medium to long-term strategic priorities and objectives of the FRA. The second level is the operational level which is outlined in Section 3 of the Single programming Document (Annual Work Programme). This level includes the projects, activities and outputs are planned and implemented on an annual basis.

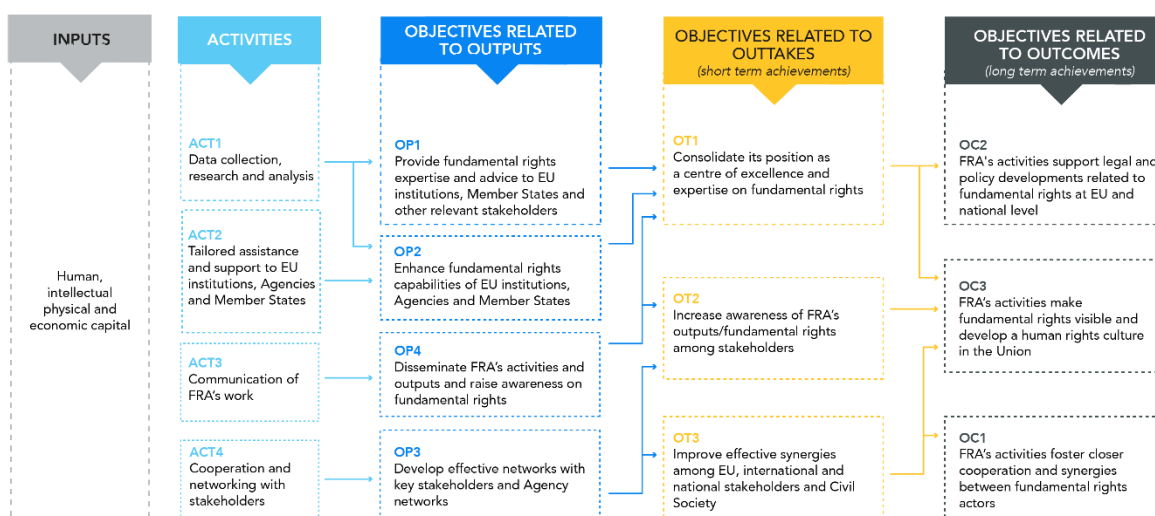

Like many other EU agencies, FRA is therefore faced with the task of providing the best possible proof of the effectiveness of its work and communicating this in a readily understandable way, not just for individual projects, but also on a strategic level. FRA's Performance Framework serves as a comprehensive system for planning, monitoring and reporting on the Agency's performance against its intended results.

Performance planning

The FRA is committed to implementing in 2023 a range of activities that are instrumental in contributing to the accomplishment of its objectives. These activities include, but are not limited to, research, analysis, and the production of reports, which are aimed at providing valuable insights into fundamental issues related to fundamental rights across the EU. Additionally, the FRA engages with a diverse range of stakeholders, including civil society organizations, policymakers, and other relevant actors, to ensure that its activities are grounded in an in-depth understanding of the most pressing issues affecting the EU. It should be noted that each FRA activity or output plays a crucial role in contributing towards the achievement of multiple objectives, thereby reinforcing the interconnectedness of various aspects of the FRA's work.

Performance monitoring & reporting

Monitoring and reporting is implemented on the basis of the Performance measurement Framework (PMF), which includes a set of indicators that can be used to assess the results and achievements of the Agency's planning (multi-annual and annual programming). As illustrated in the intervention logic, there is a logical relationship between the inputs, the activities, the outputs, the outtakes and the outcomes of the Agency.

As a critical step in assessing the effectiveness of its work, FRA establishes specific targets for each performance indicator included in the Performance Measurement Framework (PMF), that are linked to both the multi-annual and annual programming. The performance monitoring and reporting against these indicators is carried out through various methodologies and at different intervals. These include monitoring through FRA's internal project management tool, conducting user satisfaction surveys, organizing interviews and focus groups, conducting external evaluations of projects, and carrying out mid-term reviews of multi-annual strategies. The FRA uses these methods to gather comprehensive and accurate performance data, which is then analysed to assess the progress made towards meeting the established targets and to identify areas where improvements can be made.

The Consolidated Annual Activity Report provides a comprehensive description of the results achieved every year in accordance with the reporting requirements of the European Commission.

Performance planning

Following is a non-exhaustive list of activities and deliverables that FRA may undertake annually to meet its new strategic priorities and objectives.

Performance monitoring

A key performance indicator is a quantifiable measure used to evaluate FRA’s success in meeting objectives for performance. They are mainly linked to:

- Outputs – the outputs and services that FRA provides to its target groups, through the implementation of its projects and activities
- Outtakes – what beneficiaries do with FRA outputs, whether they find them helpful/relevant/timely
- Outcomes – long-term results in terms of the contribution of FRA’s work to policy development and implementation, raising awareness of fundamental rights, building a human rights culture etc.

Output indicators measure FRA’s effectiveness in producing and delivering FRA products and services to key stakeholders. All output indicators shall be measured through a numerical value and represent the core performance of the Agency on a yearly basis. The performance measurement process for output indicators in 2023 is the following:
