Strategic programme A

FAIR AND EQUAL SOCIETIES

Area of activity 1: Equality and non-discrimination

A 1.2 – EU Survey on immigrants and descendants of immigrants

Strategic programme A: FAIR AND EQUAL SOCIETIES Area of activity 1: Equality and non-discrimination	PRIORITY 1	Start date: 01/01/2020 End date: 31/12/2023	STATUS: NEW	TYPE: multiannual

POLICY RELEVANCE and ADDED VALUE of the PROJECT

In its 2016 Action Plan on the integration of third country nationals, the European Commission points out that integration is key to the future well-being, prosperity and cohesion of European societies and that successful integration of third country nationals is a matter of common interest to all Member States. Under the 2016 Action Plan FRA is referred to as a key actor to “monitor social inclusion and the participation of third country nationals in society from a fundamental rights perspective” through its data collection activities in the framework of its surveys. Key to this is the need to monitor the situation on the ground and measure the impact of integration policies in the EU and at national level. Data from FRA’s past EU-MIDIS surveys – and the current survey – serve to populate selected Immigrant Integration and Social Inclusion indicators, as well as indicators on civic citizenship and democratic participation, individual and collective freedoms, respect for the EU’s core values and trust in public institutions, as well as belonging and identity formation. FRA’s data, particularly with regard to immigrants’ perceptions of discrimination, were also used in the EU-OECD ‘Settling in 2018’ report on immigrant integration. FRA’s work in this area builds on its 2017 report ‘Together in the EU - Promoting the participation of migrants and their descendants’, in which FRA examined national integration policies, action plans and strategies concerning ‘active citizenship’ and the issue of ‘welcoming society’.

In 2020, FRA will start to prepare and implement the EU Survey on immigrants and descendants of immigrants. This will include extensive background research and consultations with relevant community organisations in the survey countries. The preparatory activities will inform the development of country-specific sampling strategies as well as the finalisation of the survey questionnaire (based on the EU-MIDIS II questionnaire, with a focus on ensuring comparability for measurement of changes over time) and other survey tools to ensure adequate coverage of the population and response rates. The fieldwork will be conducted in 2021 and results will be available in 2022. The survey is going to collect data from people of African descent, asylum seekers/refugees and people identifying as Muslim. The survey results will provide timely and relevant EU-wide comparable data on the actual impact on the ground of EU and national anti-discrimination, anti-racism and equality legislation policies (including policies on integration and social inclusion). The findings will guide policy makers in developing more targeted legal and policy responses, including in the field of social rights, integration and social inclusion, as well as civic participation and trust in public authorities. Data collection will take into account the specific experiences of women, different age groups, and people with disabilities. The survey findings will support the further development of fundamental rights indicators in the area of immigrant integration, building upon relevant work on outcome indicators by EUROSTAT and other EU institutions, the OECD, the United Nations bodies and the Council of Europe, and will also help to guide the activities of local authorities, NHRIs/Equality Bodies and civil society at Member State level.

PROJECT OBJECTIVES

- To identify trends and assess progress over time ensuring disaggregation by sex, age and disability;
- To provide data on discrimination experiences, hate motivated harassment and violence, and rights awareness as well as on social inclusion and civic participation and data relevant for selected SDG indicators;
- To further refine research methodologies for sampling and surveying hard-to-reach or elusive populations;
- To deliver project outputs of use to key stakeholders in different formats.

Area of activity 2: Judicial cooperation, except in criminal matters

B 2.4 – Procedural rights of children in criminal proceedings

Strategic programme B: JUST, DIGITAL AND SECURE SOCIETIES Area of activity 2: Judicial cooperation, except in criminal matters	PRIORITY 1	Start Date: 01/12/2020 End date: 31/12/2022	STATUS: NEW	TYPE: multiannual

POLICY RELEVANCE and ADDED VALUE of the PROJECT

The directive on procedural safeguards for children who are suspects or accused persons in criminal proceedings (Directive 2016/800/EU), which is part of the Criminal Procedure Roadmap set out in the Stockholm programme, was adopted in 2016, with the transposition deadline having expired on 11 June in 2019. According to Article 25 of the directive, the Commission shall, by 11 June 2022, submit a report to the European Parliament and to the Council on the implementation of this directive.

The directive aims to enhance the right to a fair trial in criminal proceedings across the EU by laying down minimum rules to make sure that the procedural safeguards for children who are suspects or accused persons in criminal proceedings are respected throughout the EU, in accordance with existing international standards and guarantees; in particular those relating to the child's best interests and the child's right to be heard in accordance with Article 24 of the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union (EU Charter) as well as the right to a fair trial and the rights of defence arising from Articles 47 and 48 of the EU Charter and Article 6 of the European Convention on Human Rights (hereinafter the ECHR). By ensuring the minimum standards across the EU in this area, the new rules are supposed to contribute to the strengthening of the Member States' trust in each other's criminal justice systems.

The project, as requested by the European Commission, will complement the Commission's implementation report due in June 2022, further exploring practices and opportunities in the context of the application of the minimum procedural safeguards under the directive, such as the child's right to a lawyer and legal assistance, individual assessment, and safeguards when children are deprived of their liberty. The project will situate its research in a wider context of an important group of rights known as the 'rights of defence' and, in this way, will build on the findings of FRA's previous projects in this area, namely on: the right to interpretation, translation and information; the right of access to a lawyer and the rights of persons requested under the European Arrest Warrant; presumption of innocence; as well as FRA's work on rights of the child, particularly in the area of child friendly justice and mapping minimum ages in judicial proceedings. Apart from the relevant standards of the EU (incl. the EU Charter) and the Council of Europe such as the Council of Europe guidelines on child-friendly justice, due regard will be also given to relevant standards from the United Nations such as General Comment 24 to the UN CRC on children's rights in the child justice system.

PROJECT OBJECTIVES

- Contribute to the Commission's assessment under Article 25 of Directive 2016/800/EU;
- Contribute to the proper implementation of fundamental rights and secondary EU legislation at Member State level as concerns specific aspects of the procedural rights of children who are suspects or accused persons in criminal proceedings

O 1.1 Performance, Monitoring and Evaluation

Other activities covering all MAF areas	PRIORITY 1	Start date: 01/01/2020	STATUS: ongoing	TYPE: annual

POLICY RELEVANCE and ADDED VALUE of the PROJECT

According to the Article 15, co. 4f of the Agency's founding regulation (168/2007) effective monitoring and evaluation procedures shall be implemented relating to the performance of the Agency against its objectives according to professionally recognized standards.

The requirements for conducting evaluations at FRA are set in numerous documents, requesting FRA to demonstrate its performance, achievements and impact in the context of financial budgetary pressures and increasing demands from internal and external stakeholders for good governance, accountability and transparency, greater effectiveness and delivery of tangible results. The performance measurement framework (PMF) sets out the practical steps needed to assess the FRA performance elaborating some important aspects (such as defining more precise quantitative and qualitative information to be collected, selecting methods and tools of collecting monitoring data) as well as providing a clear and accurate overview of the extent to which the activities contribute to the realization of FRA's outcomes.

Monitoring is the systematic collection and analysis of information performed during the implementation of FRA's projects. It involves carrying out regular internal data collection and analysis activity so as to identify and measure gaps between actual and planned performance at different points in time in the project life cycle. It ultimately aims to inform management decisions, notably in the introduction of timely corrective measures.

Evaluation activities focus on measurement at the level of short term impact, long term impact and aspirational impact as defined in the PMF. These activities can be conducted at different stages of the project's life cycle, as per ex-ante evaluations, interim or mid-term evaluations, ex-post evaluations and stakeholder review.

PROJECT OBJECTIVES

- One of the major objectives of FRA performance monitoring and evaluation is to create links between the different levels of its intervention and to collect data regarding both the agency's (1) outputs and (2) outcomes. Monitoring the performance of FRA will be carried out in accordance with a logic model (composed by outputs, immediate, intermediate and ultimate outcomes) which includes the list of the performance measures;
- The agency has set up Performance Measurement Framework to monitor, report and evaluating on its performance as this will help FRA to manage and evaluate its usefulness, effectiveness and relevance, as well as strengthen the alignment of the organisation's projects with its strategic objective, main tasks and thematic priorities

O 1.3 – The fundamental rights impact of Member States’ responses to COVID19

Other activities covering all MAF areas	PRIORITY 1	Start date: 2020	STATUS: NEW	TYPE: Annual

POLICY RELEVANCE and ADDED VALUE of the PROJECT

The COVID-19 pandemic impacted on Member States of the EU in the spring of 2020. Governments took urgent measures to curb its spread in an effort to protect lives and safeguard public health, and to provide medical care to those most in need. These measures, including emergency powers, limited people’s fundamental rights to an extent rarely experienced in peacetime Europe. In view of this, FRA launched a series of Bulletins to document the situation in Member States with respect to government action taken, including the enactment of emergency powers, and their impact on people’s fundamental rights – with a focus on groups that can be considered as particularly vulnerable to the pandemic and who are disproportionately impacted with respect to responses to it.

In spring 2020, as part of its rapid response to the Coronavirus outbreak, FRA initiated background research and launched a new project to analyse the fundamental rights impact of measures adopted by EU Member State governments in response to the spread of COVID-19.

From April to July 2020, FRA published four bulletins concerning key fundamental rights aspects of Member States’ measures relating to the crisis.

The first bulletin - covering the period 1 February – 20 March 2020 - outlines the measures EU Member States have put in place to protect public health during pandemic and the impact these measures may have on civil, political and socioeconomic rights. The second bulletin - covering the period 21 March – 30 April 2020 - considers the impact on fundamental rights in important areas of daily life, and includes a thematic focus on the processing of users’ data to help contain COVID-19, particularly by contact-tracing apps. The third bulletin - covering the period 1 May – 31 May 2020 - continues to collect data on the impact on fundamental rights in important areas of daily life, including a thematic focus on the pandemic’s impact on older people. The fourth bulletin - covering the period 1 – 30 June 2020 - outlines the measures adopted by the Member States to safely reopen their societies and economies while continuing to mitigate the spread of COVID-19. It highlights the impact these measures may have on civil, political and socioeconomic rights. In addition, the Agency will publish an output on the impact of COVID-19 with respect to the Roma.

A further Bulletin will be published in the latter half of 2020 to assess measures taken by Member State governments (after summer 2020) in response to the virus, which will provide an additional fundamental rights perspective on subsequent developments.

As with previous Bulletins, FRA will continue its data collection through FRANET research in all Member State.

PROJECT OBJECTIVES

- To provide a comprehensive overview of the measures EU Member States have put in place to protect public health during the Coronavirus outbreak.
- To analyse the fundamental rights impact of measures adopted by EU Member State governments in response to the Coronavirus outbreak.
- To support policymakers across the EU to ensure that measures to control the pandemic are in line with fundamental rights protections and the needs of diverse populations.

ANNEX VII Evaluation of the FRA

Evaluation activities aim at assessing the performance and achievements of the programmes, projects, activities or organisation on the basis of a set criteria and indicators, in view of establishing findings and conclusions as well as recommendations for future programming or improvements to the current projects. Evaluation activities focus on measurement at the level of short-term impact, long term impact and aspirational impact as defined in the Performance Measurement Framework. Depending on at what stage of the project's life cycle the evaluation activities are conducted, there are different types of evaluation at FRA such as:

- Ex-ante evaluations and;
- Retrospective evaluations;

Based on the Financial Rules of the European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights an ex-ante evaluation supporting the preparation of programmes and activities shall be based on evidence, if available, on the performance of related programmes or activities and shall identify and analyse the issues to be addressed, the added value of Union involvement, objectives, expected effects of different options and monitoring and evaluation arrangements

The previous Implementing Rules to the Financial Rules of the FRA provided guidance on the approach to be taken for the ex-ante evaluation, in particular proposals for programmes, projects or activities occasioning budget expenditure or changes to the work programme for which the overall estimated expenditure exceeds 5% of the average operational expenditure of the preceding 3 years, shall be the subject of an ex-ante evaluation.

Retrospective evaluations shall assess the performance of the programme or activity, including aspects such as effectiveness, efficiency, coherence, relevance and EU added value. Retrospective evaluations shall be based on the information generated by the monitoring arrangements and indicators established for the action concerned. They shall be undertaken periodically and in sufficient time for the findings to be taken into account in ex-ante evaluations or impact assessments that support the preparation of related programmes and activities.

The previous Implementing Rules to the Financial Rules of the FRA provided guidance on the approach to be taken for the ex-ante evaluation, in particular programmes, projects or activities, including pilot projects and preparatory actions, where the resources mobilised of the estimated expenditure exceeds 10% of the average annual operational expenditure of the preceding 3 years, shall be the subject of an interim and/or ex post evaluation in terms of the human and financial resources allocated and the results obtained

EVALUATION PLAN 2020

MID-TERM REVIEW OF THE FRA STRATEGY 2018-2022

As 2020 is the mid-point of the strategic plan, which is expected to run to 2022, there is a need to step back and take stock of overall progress to date in light of internal and external contextual changes and lessons learned to date. The aim of this study will be to provide the Management Board with an independent assessment of the work of FRA over the first three-years of its Strategic Plan. In particular, the study will serve both accountability and learning objectives and its scope is to take stock of progress to date, to identify and address any emerging strategic issues and to agree on any adjustment to the strategy, which is needed to ensure effective delivery of the strategy plan for the remaining period.

EX-POST EVALUATION

The COVID-19 pandemic affected people's daily life in the 27 EU Member States and had an impact on everyone. Governments took urgent measures to curb its spread to safeguard public health and provide medical care to those who need it. They are acting to defend the human rights of health and of life itself. Inevitably, these measures limit our human and fundamental rights to an extent rarely experienced in peacetime. It is important to ensure that such limitations are consistent with our legal safeguards and that their impact on particular groups is adequately taken account of.

During the pandemic crisis FRA has timely published, from March to July, four bulletins on the fundamental rights implications of the pandemic looking at how EU Member States tackled the pandemic and the impact on fundamental rights. FRA reports outlined the measures EU Member States have put in place to protect public health during pandemic and the impact these measures may have on civil, political and socioeconomic rights. It also considered the impact on fundamental rights in important areas of daily life, focussing the pandemic's impact on older people and on the processing of users' data.

ANNEX VIII Performance Measurement Framework

A. FRA'S KEY PERFORMANCE INDICATORS

The table below contains the range of indicators identified to assess the results and achievements of FRA's activities. The indicators are differentiated by level of achievements – output, short-term impact, long-term impact and aspirational impact – and follow the levels of the intervention logic.

Output Indicators
I1	Number of hearings or presentations to institutional stakeholders across levels of governance
I2	Percentage of responses to requests for opinions and other advice
I3	Number of research activities [per type of task, per thematic area, per type of outputs, per geographical area]
I4	Number of good practices identified (per Thematic Area)
I5	Number of publications produced (per thematic area)
I6	Number of relevant stakeholders receiving FRA information
I7	Number of stakeholders receiving a copy of the publications
I8	Number of documents produced whose purpose is to present methods and standards (including sets of indicators)
I9	Number of networking events organised
I10	Number of participants in FRA events
I11	Number of material and tools produced related to awareness raising activities
Short-term Indicators
I12	Proportion of key stakeholders that consider evidence and opinions provided by FRA are- relevant - reliable- of high quality- useful
I13	Proportion of key stakeholder and experts who consider that reliable, relevant and high quality information resulting from FRA Data collection, research and analysis activities is delivered to intended target group[by type of outputs]
I14	Proportion of stakeholders/FRP members who think that FRA has been successful in promoting dialogue with civil society
I15	Proportion of FRP and other network members/ stakeholders who consider the networking/collaboration activities organised by FRA to be useful to their organisation in order to promote fundamental rights
I16	The proportion of stakeholders who agree/strongly agree that FRA's awareness raising activities contributes to a greater shared understanding of trends in fundamental rights
I17	Proportion of stakeholders who came into contact with FRA as a result of the communication activities
I18	Proportion of outputs [publications, opinions, communications, etc.] translated in all 24 official languages of the EU
I19	Proportion of stakeholders who consider that they would not have found out about FRA if the latter was less active in communicating
I20	Proportion of media coverage of FRA's activities [by type of awareness raising material and media channel]
Long-term Indicators
I21	Proportion of relevant stakeholders who consider that the FRA's conclusions and recommendations from research findings, Opinions and other policy advice directly influenced policy development in a manner which reflects the desired impacts of the Agency
I22	The proportion of stakeholders who agree or strongly agree that FRA conclusions and recommendations from research findings contributes to the development of policies and legislation in a manner which reflects the desired impacts of the Agency
I23	Proportion of stakeholders who consider that FRA conclusions and recommendations from Opinions and other policy advice contribute to the development of legislation and policies in a manner which contributes to the desired impacts of the Agency
I24	Proportion of stakeholders who consider that FRA conclusions and recommendations from Opinions and other policy advice contribute to the implementation of legislation and policies in a manner which contributes to the desired impacts of the Agency
I25	Number of references to FRA's conclusions or recommendations or FRA's activities in policies and legislation
Aspirational Indicators
I26	Proportion of stakeholders who agree that FRA's range of activities influenced EU and Member States legislation and policies related to fundamental rights practice (a) at EU level (b) at MS level [By type of activities]
I27	Proportion of stakeholders who agree that FRA's range of activities have actively contributed to the implementation of fundamental rights legislation and policies in practice (a) at EU level (b) at MS level [By type of activities]
I28	Proportion of stakeholders who consider that existing legislation and policies are effective in guaranteeing fundamental rights
I29	Proportion of stakeholders who consider that EU and Member State institutions effectively respect, protect and promote Fundamental Rights
I30	Proportion of non-governmental stakeholders who agree that FRA's work has directly influenced their work and capacity to promote fundamental rights
I31	Proportion of EU citizens who know about their fundamental rights and the Charter

A. ANNUAL PROGRAMMING 2020: INDICATORS AND TARGETS PER PROJECT

The table below contains the list of the multi-annual and new projects described in Section 3 "Work Programme 2020". For each project, several indicators and the relevant have been identified, in order to assess their achievements and impact.

ANNEX IX Risks Year 2020

M14	E	Brexit impact in terms of budget and staffing due to absence of information. Potential impact in terms of negative media campaign in case of HR reduction. Potential impact in case of limited capacity of outsourcing on UK contractors.	Decisions taken based on incomplete information. Budgetary constraints. Inability to reallocate resources due to the lack of personnel.	High 4	Major 4	Major 4	Significant 3	High 16	CS/DIR	- Ensure strict monitoring via networking and official information by the EC. Early detection of potential consequences in terms of budget and staff cuts. - Inform continuously the UK staff members.
M18		COVID 19 outbreak and risks related to business continuity	Non achievement of objectives Difficulties in engaging with stakeholders (at EU and MS level) Severe budgetary constraints. Delays in the procurement and implementation of existing contracts. Loss of key resources.	High 4	Major 4	Major 4	Significant 3	High 16		*At present with the available information and without certainty on the duration of the restricting measures the assessment is taking into account the situation following the activation of the business continuity plan.  Follow-up on the evolution of the COVID-19 crisis and the priorities set up by the Commission. Alignment of FRA activities to the new priorities keeping the focus on the major projects.  The activities are continuing even if at a lower intensity.  A system for project prioritisation has been conceived in order to respond to eventual budget or resources reductions.  The communication to interested parties during the crisis should be factual and effective.  The contracts are covered by clauses of force majeure. Adapt the service requests (e.g. FRANET) to the new reality. Implementation of an appropriate response for ensuring the continuity of the services (e.g. documents signature).  Deputising/Back-up arrangements ensures the continuity in case of unavailability of key functions.
